The renewables team at Price Forbes is commercially minded and technically skilled. We have a well-established reputation for delivering competitive broking services and risk management solutions to our clients.

Our approach is friendly, knowledgeable and service led, working hand in hand with clients around the world to deliver industry leading, practical solutions.

We are a diverse team drawn from across the renewables sector, with highly technical insurance skills, deep rooted risk management expertise, OEM experience and direct project development skills.

UNDERSTANDING MARKET DIFFERENCES

We have strong relationships in all international insurance markets, ensuring we can find the right solution for the specific risk.

Different types and breadth of covers are available from different markets, making sure our clients can benefit from the following:

- Competitive Premiums
- Lender Compliant “Bankable” Projects
- Broad “All Risks” Coverage
- A Rated Security

A GLOBAL CULTURE

With a global reach and thorough understanding of regional insurance market nuances and project challenges, we are ready to meet the needs of our clients from our offices in London and our regional hubs in Europe, Asia, Latin America, Middle East and Africa.

MANAGING RISK

Our team is recognised for developing creative insurance programs for International renewable energy companies through our understanding of the inner workings of independent power producers and associated sectors.
